Avery Appreciates True Friendship

By Paige Ashley Brotherton

Playing softball for the Lady Tigers had always been the key to Avery, Charlotte, and Bianca's friendship. It was the common interest they shared.

But when Charlotte grows closer to a new girl in the neighborhood, Avery worries that her friend's new interest in clothes and shopping will tear the trio apart. Suddenly, Avery finds herself surrounded by worry, stress, and jealousy that affects the whole team. Can the girls come together for the upcoming tournament, or will insecurities get the better of the Lady Tigers?

And can Avery learn to accept her friend's new interest...and herself?

Paige Ashley Brotherton is interested in everything, but she always comes back to writing. Currently a high school sophomore, she has competed nationally for rowing and is a state-ranking track runner during the winter. As an honor roll and arts' magnet school student, Paige is excited for the possibilities of the future. Currently, her favorite books include The Candymakers by Wendy Mass and the Harry Potter series, while her favorite movie is The Intern. She loves drawing and reading, but every story inspires her to create more of her own.
